Spunky seniors live life to the fullest

By Kimberly Heinrichs

Every time they get together they sing happy birthday and eat cake. Many cakes.

And last time they clapped while a group of their peers banged on pots and pans from the kitchen and played kazoos adorned with funnels.

But this is no group of youngsters. Not in body anyway.

Dozens of senior citizens set out each month to prove that not only is there life after 50, there is Fun After 50.

The club of that name boasts a membership of about 400 and draws more than 50 to its monthly potluck lunches at the Magnolia Recreation Center in Upland, according to the group's vice president Les Bodamer.

And the women with the kazoos are members of a local kitchen band made up of senior citizens who have robbed their kitchens of stainless steel bowls, graters and wooden spoons — all in the name of entertainment.

And entertain, they did, playing old songs, dancing old dances and relating old memories to the delight of an audience that shared those reminiscences.

With members from all over the West Valley, the purely social club provides companionship, entertainment, food and even gambling.

Senior citizens have a choice of a variety of food at their monthly potluck at Magnolia Recreation Center in Upland.

There are the weekly bingo games at Upland's Senior Citizen Centers, but for the spendthrift seniors in the crowd there is honest-to-goodness gambling in Nevada. The members save their dollars, climb on buses and head for Laughlin, Nev., or Las Vegas on gambling junkets.

But club members assured a reporter that the stakes got no higher than quarter slot machines.

Even so, many come home with light change purses.

"They go to visit their money," one explained.

The club began more than twenty years ago and some of the members have been around since then.

But its a fact of life for this club that many of its members don't quit, they die, as one member put it.

The seniors expect that and every month they send out cards to families of those who die or to the members who are hospitalized.

Air suffers 'good news-bad news' syndrome

By Andrew Horan

LOS ANGELES — The air Inland Empire residents breathe was almost 50 percent cleaner last year than a decade ago, according to state smog regulators.

But the worst air in San Bernardino and Riverside counties last year was still 165 percent above the federal standard for healthy air. And regulators say the region had the fewest days of clean air in Southern California, was subjected to the worst visibility problems and had the second-highest concentrations of ozone — the main ingredient of smog.

Smog exceeded safe levels in the Inland Empire on almost 130 days last year, according to California Air Resources Board statistics.

These were a few of several findings that ARB staffers said add up to a "good news-bad news" picture for Southland air quality.

The good news is that air quality has improved in the past 10 years throughout Southern California, staffers said repeatedly during a day-long hearing at the State Building here last week.

And air quality will continue to improve during the next decade as new cars equipped with better pollution control devices replace older "lead sleds," ARB staffers said.

But each good report was

followed with a caveat: Air quality will improve only marginally in the next 10 years, then grow steadily worse as population and motor vehicle growth outstrip all high-tech controls.

The regular ARB meeting came two weeks after the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency threatened to halt major construction projects and highway funding in Southern California and other urban areas that will fail to meet a federal Dec. 31 deadline for providing clean, healthy air.

ARB officials reacted angrily to the sanctions threat and claimed it is a political wedge being driven at Congress as it battles to renew the Clean Air Act.

Meanwhile, EPA Administrator Lee Thomas confirmed last week that sanctions will likely be imposed in the Southland and five California cities.

Thomas' announcement added to the urgency of the ARB meeting and made it a forum for daunting news.

"No other area (in the nation) has as severe a problem (with ozone) as Southern California," said Gary Honcoop, an ARB technician.

Ozone, a colorless, irritating chemical that forms as auto and factory pollution mix in the sunlight over the Southland, impairs breathing and can lead to respiratory diseases.

Soot — "particulate matter" to regulators — lends smog its brownish pallor and obstructs visibility at Ontario International Airport an average of 60 percent of the time, according to the ARB.

Future projections of ozone "indicate they will decrease only slightly," Hancoop said.

Students win awards

Seventh-grader Garth Reese and eighth-grader Camianne Larsen have received Alta Loma Junior High's "Academic Accolade" award, Principal James E. Dyer announced.

The award recognizes those students who have a grade point average of 4.0 or above.

Larsen and Reese were selected by a vote of the entire teaching staff.

Basketball coaches also announced trophy winners for this season. For the seventh-grade girls who were coached by David Von Kaenel, April Arnold was the most valuable player, Sandra Wright was the most inspirational, and Eva Sanchez was the most improved.

Coach David Johnson called Yanira Figueroa and Cicely Smith the co-most valuable players and April Giurlanda the Tomahawk trophy winner for the eighth grade girls.

Chad Montgomery received the Tomahawk trophy; Lennie Crow, the most valuable player trophy; and Anthony Cohen received the most improved trophy on the eighth-grade boys roster. This team was coached by Gary Oddi.

The trophy for the most improved player on the seventh-grade boys' team was given to Kevin Cote; the most valuable player trophy to Marcel Fajardo; and the Tomahawk trophy went to Kevin Reynolds. Coach Robert Bowser was the presenter.

Staff and students also voted Warriors of the Trimester. The winners were Shannon Shomber (seventh-grade girl); Maryl Haire (eighth-grade girl); Dan Abril (seventh-grade boy); and Leonard Crow (eighth-grade boy).

Fortunately we were able to recommend a good family doctor.

If you're starting a family, you have plenty to do. No matter if you're starting big, or one at a time.

So we make it easy for you to find just the right family doctor. Just call 985-DOCS.

The physician referral service at San Antonio Community Hospital has hundreds of highly qualified physicians. Throughout the entire West Valley. Call and we'll give you the names of up to three family doctors who can see you right away, usually the next business day.

We'll make sure they meet your special needs and preferences too. Like the best office hours and a close-by location. Or acceptance of your health insurance plan.

We can recommend many Family Practitioners. There are Pediatricians, OB/GYNs and Internists too. We can also recommend most any specialist you'll ever need. Cardiologists, Dermatologists, Orthopedists and many more.

It's reassuring to know every physician we recommend has met the high standards for admission to the staff of San Antonio Community Hospital.

For more than 80 years, San Antonio Community Hospital has been the area's preferred healthcare resource for families. And now your family can pick from the best.

It's good to have a resource like San Antonio for your healthcare needs. Especially if you're new to the area. Or just new to the world.

In Etiwanda, bus drivers out, new bus company in

By Kimberly Heinrichs

Despite angry protests from bus drivers, the Etiwanda School District board voted last week to lay off the drivers and contract with an outside bus company.

The six drivers will be offered jobs with Dorsey Bus Co., but face a cut in pay if they accept.

The move will save the district about $30,000 next year and means new, safer buses for the children, district officials said.

The three-year contract has the district paying $106.30 for each bus per day, for four hours and 50 miles, Superintendent Carleton Lightfoot said. The service will cost the district $134,000 in operating costs next school year, he said.

Without the service, the district would have had to buy six new buses at $45,000 apiece over the next three years, in addition to operating costs, Lightfoot said.

The savings meant that the district had to put good business sense over personal loyalties, a board member said.

"Our intent was not to hurt anybody," board President Jerry Bredlau said. "It's not easy, but if we're going to save 30,000 bucks, we're going to save 30,000 bucks."

But Dorsey, headquartered in Corvallis, Ore., will be offering the drivers only $6 to $7 an hour, a spokesman said.

That means a drop in pay for five of the six drivers, who earn $5.68 to $9.63 an hour with the district.

"You say our jobs are secure. But it's like a slap in the face because you're asking us to take a pay cut," driver Shirley Foster said.

Foster, the district's only van driver, will be the only one to get a raise — a minimum of 32 cents an hour.

"I wouldn't be getting sick leave. I wouldn't be getting paid holidays like I have now. I wouldn't be getting a raise," she concluded.

Linda Mason told the board she's been driving 14 years for the district, accumulating 117 sick days she had expected to be paid for at her retirement in two years. One of her co-workers estimated that she would lose about $6,000 if she took the job with Dorsey.

"Should I think about transferring to another district just to retire and keep my benefits?" she asked the board.

Some parents at the meeting worried that the bus drivers would leave to keep their salaries and benefits as they are.

"It's a very nice feeling to know that people that we know are driving our kids to and from school," said parent Jeff Young, explaining that the drivers live in Etiwanda.

Young said he prefered having the district hire the drivers through the Oregon company.

FAMOUS LAST WORDS FROM FRIENDS TO FRIENDS. I'm perfectly fine. I can drive with my eyes closed. There's nothing wrong with me. Are you joking—I feel great. What am I—a wimp? I'm in great shape to drive. You're not serious are you? What's a couple of beers? Nobody drives my car but me. I've never felt better. I can drink with the best of them. But I only had a few. So I had a couple. I can drive rings around anybody. I can drive my own car, thank you. I'm not drunk. I drive better hen I'm like this. Who says I can't drink drive? I can hold my booze. I know 'm doing. I always drive like this. wit' Trust me. What's a few thing to me. I'm with my eyes ith me. drink

Don't let drinking and driving kill a friendship.

HELP program

In 1962, only four percent of the entire population had ever tried illegal drugs. Now, nearly two thirds of today's young people have tried illict drugs before they finish high school.

To help combat this epidemic, HELP (Help Educate Loyal Parents), in conjunction with the Ontario Police Department's Crime Prevention Unit, will be in the community to develp an educational drug abuse program.

Among the materials to be used is the journal titled, "A Reason for Tears." The journal will be distributed this fall in school assemblies and at Neighborhood Watch and PTA meetings.

For more information, call 988-6481.

Teaching bias

The Sex Equity Steering Committee will be presenting a free seminar titled "Equity and Educators: The Subtle Biases in Teaching" for eductors, administrators, counselors, career technicians, parents and anyone else who is interested in maximizing educational resources and occupational opportunities for students.

The seminar will be May 4 at the Hill Auditorium, Chaffey High School, 211 W. Fifth St., Ontario. Three sessions will be offered from 9 to 10:30 a.m., noon to 1:30 p.m. and 3 to 4:30 p.m. All sessions will be the same. For more information or reservations, call 986-1311 or 387-4448.

'Name that Quack'

Name that Quack.

It's all a part of the promotional activities for the Wildlife West Festival sponsored by the San Bernardino County Museum. The event, to be held Nov. 19 to 22, features the winner and finalists of the federal and state duck stamp competition, along with wildlife art for purchase, commercial exhibitors, displays and demonstrations.

For the 1987 festival, the San Bernardino County Museum Foundation is inviting the public to enter the Name That Quack contest, and to submit suggestions for this year's teaser buttons. The only requirement is that the phrase include the use of the word "Quack" in some way. There is a limit of five quack titles per person, and entries should be submitted on a postcard no later than June 1.

All entries will be judged by the Wildlife West Festival steering committee, and winners will be announced June 15.

Entries should be sent to: Name That Quack, San Bernardino County Museum, 2024 Orange Tree Lane, Redlands, Calif. 92374.
